YanYu.lol

قاعدة بيانات الامثال والحكم الشعبية

Before

Be just before you are generous Before you make a friend eat a bushel of salt with him Catch your bear before you sell its skin Coming events cast their shadows before Cowards die many times before their deaths Do not cast your pearls before swine Don't count your chickens before they are hatched Don't pour out the dirty water before you have clean Don't put the cart before the horse The darkest hour is that before the dawn Fingers were made before forks He that looks not before finds himself behind If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap Measure thrice before you cut once
Catch your bear before you sell its skin Coming events cast their shadows before Cowards die many times before their deaths Do not cast your pearls before swine Don't count your chickens before they are hatched Don't pour out the dirty water before you have clean Don't put the cart before the horse The darkest hour is that before the dawn Fingers were made before forks He that looks not before finds himself behind If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
Coming events cast their shadows before Cowards die many times before their deaths Do not cast your pearls before swine Don't count your chickens before they are hatched Don't pour out the dirty water before you have clean Don't put the cart before the horse The darkest hour is that before the dawn Fingers were made before forks He that looks not before finds himself behind If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
Cowards die many times before their deaths Do not cast your pearls before swine Don't count your chickens before they are hatched Don't pour out the dirty water before you have clean Don't put the cart before the horse The darkest hour is that before the dawn Fingers were made before forks He that looks not before finds himself behind If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
Do not cast your pearls before swine Don't count your chickens before they are hatched Don't pour out the dirty water before you have clean Don't put the cart before the horse The darkest hour is that before the dawn Fingers were made before forks He that looks not before finds himself behind If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
Don't count your chickens before they are hatched Don't pour out the dirty water before you have clean Don't put the cart before the horse The darkest hour is that before the dawn Fingers were made before forks He that looks not before finds himself behind If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
Don't pour out the dirty water before you have clean Don't put the cart before the horse The darkest hour is that before the dawn Fingers were made before forks He that looks not before finds himself behind If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
Don't put the cart before the horse The darkest hour is that before the dawn Fingers were made before forks He that looks not before finds himself behind If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
The darkest hour is that before the dawn Fingers were made before forks He that looks not before finds himself behind If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
Fingers were made before forks He that looks not before finds himself behind If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
He that looks not before finds himself behind If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
If each would sweep before his own door we should have a clean city If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
If you sing before breakfast you will cry before night Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
Know your own faults before blaming others for theirs Look before you leap
Look before you leap
Measure thrice before you cut once
Never ask pardon before you are accused
Never spend your money before you have it
Seek the neighbour before the house the companion before the journey
Think before you speak and look before you leap

Try your friend before you trust him
Brave men lived before agamemnon
Business before pleasure
Catching's before hanging
Do not count your chickens before they are hatched
Cowards die many times before their death
Do not cry before you're hurt
The darkest hour is just before the dawn
We must eat a peck of dirt before we die
One hour's sleep before midnight is worth two after
Be just before you're generous
You should know a man seven years before you stir his fire
A lie is halfway round the world before the truth has got its boots on
When the oak is before the ash then you will only get a splash when the ash is before the oak then you may expect a soak
It is best to be off with the old love before you are on with the new
Pride goes before a fall
Do not put the cart before the horse
Rain before seven fine before eleven
A reed before the wind lives on while mighty oaks do fall
Sing before breakfast cry before night
We must learn to walk before we can run