

Less

The great embraces the less
More haste less speed
The more women look in their glass the less they look to their house
There is nothing that costs less than civility
A wise man is never less alone than when alone
Of two evils choose the less
Less is more