

Melts

The promise of the night is rubbed with butter which melts away when the day shines on it

The same fire that melts the butter hardens the egg