

Open

Better an open enemy than a false friend

A deceitful peace is more harmful than open war

A door must be either shut or open

Good clothes open all doors

A man without a smiling face must not open a shop

Open confession is good for the soul

A door must either be shut or open

A golden key can open any door