

Same

Harp not for ever on the same string
It will be all the same a hundred years hence
We are all in the same boat
The same fire that melts the butter hardens the egg
Lighting never strikes the same place twice