So

As a man lives so shall he die

As you are so will your governors be

As you make your bed so you must lie in it

As you sow so shall you reap

Do all you can to be good and you will be so

Dogs wag their tails no so much in love to you as to your bread

The devil is not so black as he is painted

Home is home be it ever so homely

Man is not so soon healed as hurt

None so blind as those who won't see

None so deaf as those who won't hear

Nothing is given so freely as advice

Nothing is so certain as the unexpected

Nothing so bad but might have been worse

Nothing so necessary for travellers as languages

The pitcher goes so often to the well that it is broken at last

So many countries so many customs

Big fleas have little fleas upon their backs to bite them and little fleas have lesser fleas and so ad infinitum

There's none so blind as those who will not see

As you brew so shall you bake

Why buy a cow when milk is so cheap

As the day lengthens so the cold strengthens

There's none so deaf as those who will not hear

Home is home though it's never so homely

As you make your bed so you must lie upon it

So many men so many opinions

So many mists in march so many frosts in may

Nothing so bad but it might have been worse

Nothing so bold as a blind mare

There is nothing so good for the inside of a man as the outside of a horse

There's nowt so queer as folk

As you sow so you reap

As a tree falls so shall it lie

As the twig is bent so is the tree inclined

Work expands so as to fill the time available
