

Soon

The fish will soon be caught that nibbles at every bait
A fool and his money soon parted
Great pain and little gain will make a man soon weary
Man is not so soon healed as hurt
Soon learned soon forgotten
We soon believe what we desire
A bellowing cow soon forgets her calf
A fool and his money are soon parted
A little pot is soon hot
Long foretold long last short notice soon past
A short horse is soon curried
Soon ripe soon rotten
If every man would sweep his own doorstep the city would soon be clean
