They

All are presumed good till they are found in fault

All things are difficult before they are easy

Astrologers lie even if they tell the truth

Don't count your chickens before they are hatched

Give knaves an inch and they will take a yard

Gossips are frogs they drink and talk

Many kiss the hand they wish to cut off

Many would be cowards if they had courage enough

Men are known by the company they keep

The more women look in their glass the less they look to their house

Most men are slaves because they can not say 'no'

No man loveth his fetters be they made of gold

Take things as they come

They also serve who only stand and wait

They brag most who can do least

They that live longest see most

Things are seldom what they seem

Vessels leak of what they hold

Good americans when they die go to paris

An ape is an ape a varlet is a varlet though they be clad in silk or scarlet

The bigger they are the harder they fall

Blessings brighten as they take their flight

Do not count your chickens before they are hatched

They that dance must pay the fiddler

Do unto others as you would they should do unto you

Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad

The mills of god grind slowly yet they grind exceeding small

They that sow the wind shall reap the whirlwind

When spider webs unite they can tie up a lion

When things are at the worst they begin to mend

A woman a dog and a walnut tree the more you beat them the better they be
