They

All are presumed good till they are found in fault
All things are difficult before they are easy
Astrologers lie even if they tell the truth
Don't count your chickens before they are hatched
Give knaves an inch and they will take a yard
Gossips are frogs they drink and talk
Many kiss the hand they wish to cut off
Many would be cowards if they had courage enough
Men are known by the company they keep
The more women look in their glass the less they look to their house
Most men are slaves because they can not say 'no'
No man loveth his fetters be they made of gold
Take things as they come
They also serve who only stand and wait
They brag most who can do least
They that live longest see most
Things are seldom what they seem
Vessels leak of what they hold
Good americans when they die go to paris
An ape is an ape a varlet is a varlet though they be clad in silk or scarlet
The bigger they are the harder they fall
Blessings brighten as they take their flight

Do not count your chickens before they are hatched

They that dance must pay the fiddler

Do unto others as you would they should do unto you

Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad

The mills of god grind slowly yet they grind exceeding small

They that sow the wind shall reap the whirlwind

When spider webs unite they can tie up a lion

When things are at the worst they begin to mend

A woman a dog and a walnut tree the more you beat them the better they be
