

Women

Men make houses women make homes
The more women look in their glass the less they look to their house
Women are as wavering as the wind
Women are great talkers
Women have long hair and short wisdom
Women will have their wills
Never choose your women or your linen by candlelight
England is the paradise of women the hell of horses and the purgatory of servants